Tell us a little bit about your personal life and personal philosophy.

As life happens, my family and I have moved a few times due to the inheritance of our first home from my parents to eventually farming wheat and raising cattle in Omega, Oklahoma. Through life experiences, I found I had a real passion for homes and land. I have personal experience in many aspects of real estate from designing a custom home on undeveloped land, purchasing and remodeling a project home, life estate management through 1031 exchanges, and investment property management. I have been an active real estate professional since 2015. Now as a licensed broker, I am continually learning and applying the latest marketing, sales, and negotiation techniques to assist clients in achieving their real estate goals.

Tell us why you would want to serve on the board of directors.

I feel being a member of the OKCMAR board is a way to give back to the real estate community. I believe that if you enjoy and are passionate about an industry, you need to be a part of it to maintain and move it forward so that it will continue to thrive for all the community that it serves.
